THRESHING MALTING BARLEY

Pealed or broken barley kernels often result in the grain being rejected for malting. The cause of this damage is threshing too close, or by having the cylinder speed too high. Malters prefer undamaged barley with a little head left on the kernel, to damaged barley with a heavier test weight.

HEREFORD CATTLE

All Hereford cattle are descended from one cow left by a farm as a legacy 250 years ago. Benjamin Tomkins received this animal as an only bequest from his father; he fixed the breed into the type now known as "whitefaces" in every continent and this one cow thus inherited has produced the herds now to be found throughout the world.

SUCH WAS LIFE

(Continued from page 1) it board by board across the far side and in the meantime had told my brother to unload his load and go home. After unloading and the load of logs on the side of the creek the wagon was pulled out and I proceeded to reload my lumber. I had still nine miles to go and for fear of catching cold I walked all the way. The sun and gentle wind blowing had made a perfect job of drying my clothes by the time I reached my destination. Hunger and fatigue had come in their perfectly natural order and what could I do with a hot bowl of soup or delicious stew? That was easy to guess. But, when entering the shack a note was left on the table, "gone to Oids, will be back in a day or two." No date marked the time it was written.

Since doors were never locked and you were welcome to whatever you could find, I began to search for something to eat. The cupboard was bare and the dog had received the last piece of bread and ate it in the place. Just then I heard a hen cackle in the barn and being told that a stray egg might have been laid I made the search, but no egg. I did not wish to kill the chicken and the cackle was no good to me. I then unloaded the lumber and went to bed early and devised a plan to get the other load of lumber across the creek the next day. Passing through a bush I cut four poles long enough to span the distance from a small island in the creek several rods from the lumber and soon had a foot bridge by laying boards on the poles. Then came the job of packing a hundred 12-inch boards across the creek in fifty trips of about six rods one way. Needless to say that my physical condition did not improve during my fast under hard work.

For some time thereafter Mr. Alton appeared on the scene with a huge supply of grub. I needed my ten dollars only to spend them for another pair of blankets, leaving me where I was before I contracted to do the work, plus three days of privation and hard work.

Whenever I think of taxes that

FARM SERVICE BOARD MESSAGE

With the fast approach of the harvest and threshing season we are reminded again that another summer season is nearly over. Many farmers have good crops, others are from average to poor. We have experienced an unusual season since rainfall has been far below average. This is a factor we cannot change, however, a good policy would be like this, "small ones are thankfully received, larger ones in proportion."

The good farmer is anxious to get the most from his farm and is therefore anxious to combat the weed menace to the best of his knowledge and ability. There seems to be in some areas, a gradual spread of some noxious weeds. This can probably be traced to the fact that not everyone is acquainted with the newer weeds that are appearing in some sections, and for those who are not acquainted with them, here they are: Hoary Creas, Leafy Spurge, Toad Flax, Russian Knapweed. All of these weeds are present in the M.D. of Mountain View, and every effort should be made to hold them in check and eradicate them if possible.

While the farmer finds even a patch of these weeds, it is recommended that he isolate and harvest them by themselves, being careful not to drive the harvesting machinery over these spots, then continue on, thereby spreading the weed seeds over the parts of the field where these weeds are not already present. Extreme care in this respect, and proper disposition of weed screenings will pay big dividends.

We will be very glad at any time to discuss any farm or weed problem with the farmers of this district. Our headquarters are in the Municipal Office at Didsbury.

Watch next week for another letter from your field supervisor.

Duck Hunting
Dates Are Set

The duck hunting dates for Southern Alberta districts are Sept. 21 to Nov. 19, according to the hunting regulations released Thursday night by the Federal Wildlife Service.

In Northern Alberta (the area north of the Athabasca River) the season will run from Sept. 10 to Nov. 5. In the Edmonton district the season will be from Sept. 10 to Nov. 12.

The southern district of the province is defined as follows: all the area south of a point where the centre line of Highway No. 12 intersects the east boundary of Alberta; thence westerly along the centre line of Highway No. 12, through Coronation and Stettler, to the point of intersection of the centre line of Highway No. 12 with the centre line of Highway No. 2 southerly along the centre line of Highway No. 2, to its intersection with the centre line of Highway No. 11, westerly along the centre line of Highway No. 11 to Brazeau and then due west to the western boundary of Alberta.

The migratory bird bag limits for Alberta are the same as last year. That is: ducks, eight a day, ten in possession and forty for the season; geese, five a day, ten in possession and fifteen for the season.

The northern district, or district No. 1 is defined as that part of the province lying north of the right bank of the Athabasca River going downstream to its intersection with the north boundary of Township 72 from the Athabasca River to its intersection with the Saskatchewan border.

The Edmonton district is defined as that part of the province lying between the northern and southern districts.

There is a closed season throughout the year on wood ducks, swans, Ross's goose, cranes, all shore birds except Wilson's snipe, and all migratory non-game and insectivorous birds.

Migratory game birds killed during the open season may be possessed in Alberta at any time, but the onus of proof that birds possessed were lawfully killed shall be on the person having the birds in possession.

It is forbidden to "use an automatic (auto-loading) gun or a pump gun with magazine that will carry more than two cartridges in the magazine, or machine gun, or battery or rifle, or a shotgun loaded with a single bullet, or any gun larger than a No. 10 gauge, or any weapon other than a gun or bow and arrow; and the use of living birds as decoys, or of any airplane or power-boat, sail boat, or night light, and shooting from any motor or wheeled vehicle, or a vehicle to which a draught animal is attached."

The shooting of migratory game birds earlier than one-half hour before the sun rises or later than one-half hour after sunset is prohibited.

It is prohibited to hunt, kill, or attempt to kill any geese within 100 yards of the edge of the waters of the North Saskatchewan, Red Deer, Bow, South Saskatchewan or Old Man rivers. The shooting of geese within two miles of the edge of the waters of Sullivan Lake is prohibited.

The penalty for violation of the migratory bird laws is a fine of not less than ten dollars and not more than three hundred dollars, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or both fine and imprisonment.

TRAIN FOR THE BIG RACE

The Canadian cost of living rose to record heights last month. The principal factors pushing it upwards were rent and food.

That is a painfully important fact to all consumers, and we are bringing this question of food prices before our readers—from the consumers point of view, for a special reason.

We want to bring the point home to farmers without any beating about the bush, that there are two sides to the farm price question—what a farmer gets, and what the housewife pays. And whether or not farmers are now satisfied with what they are getting, the combination of housewives and the cost of living is a certain barrier against our getting much more.

It is practically certain that before long farmers will get less than at present for some—or perhaps all farm products. This post war "prosperity" which we have been enjoying—and which confounded all economic prophets—is "phoney". The economy was right, but the political double-crossed them!

There should have been a period of drastic cheese-paring, to pay for the wastage of war. But political leaders, with the Great Depression still fresh in their minds, made great efforts to put their countries into debt to avoid it. Then came the threat of communism, and the hardening of determination not to give it a chance—not to allow the reduced living standards and unemployment which make goods sell for communism.

And how was this done? Not by lucky miracles—or even parlor magic! It was done by the very old and easy method of borrowing money. Our Canadian farm prices today are due to the billions of dollars which we and the United States have lent to Europe. They will probably remain reasonably good while Europe—and Britain in particular can draw on gifts or loans from North America.

When that flow stops—or is noticeably reduced, our customers will stop buying and prices will fall. It can do so—by borrowing or

GOLD PRODUCED ARTIFICIALLY

The dream of the alchemists may have been made to come true. Modern science can now produce gold by artificial means. This was revealed recently by Sir John Cockcroft, Director of Britain's Atomic Research Establishment. He was speaking to delegates attending the Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress held in London. He stressed that only small quantities can be made so far in this way. We are often asked whether we can produce gold in this way. But farmers are now satisfied with what they are getting, the combination of housewives and the cost of living is a certain barrier against our getting much more.

Taxing the country as a whole, but farmers should not bank on that, for it will not last very long.

As far as European buying, the crisis is getting closer. All this debate about the "sterling-dollar crisis" may seem a long way from Canadian farmers, but it is actually a crisis for the Canadian farmer as much as anyone else. When the crisis comes, this market goes.

And the crisis will come—whatever form it takes. Therefore a wise farmer will take this opportunity of rubbing the rough spots off his production methods. This is the time to eliminate the waste which nearly always comes with an extended period of idleness. This is the time to get whatever is needed to ensure the most efficient and economical practices on the farm and the most comfortable living conditions in the home. Alternatively this a good time to build up a good cash reserve which can be used when needed goods get cheaper.

The important thing is that farmers should not fail to get into training for the big economic race which will start—nobody knows when—but soon. They should not jog along hoping for better prices, postponing needed improvements—just as if nothing was going to happen.

—Family Herald and Weekly Star

EGG PRODUCTION

Hens in Canada last year laid an average of 150.19 eggs each. The average number of layers was 28,735,000 and they laid a total of 388,579,000 dozen eggs. Of this total 80.6 per cent were sold for consumption, 16.6 per cent consumed by the producers, and 2.8 per cent was used for hatching. The total value of eggs produced was $170,814,000, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Alberta was the third largest producer of eggs after Ontario and Quebec, with a production of 39,324,000 dozen.

FORMER DESERT LAND YIELDS RICH TIMBER

A piece of Scottish land, six miles long and two miles wide, at Culbin, near Nairn, on the Moray Firth, given up for centuries as useless desert has just given its first yield of timber. In future it will supply large quantities of pit props for United Kingdom mines, and within a few years this six thousand acres of waste and rolling sand will become one of the richest forests in Britain. It has taken man 25 years to undo the damage wrought by a single gale on a night in 1894. For generations back in Scotland's history, Culbin, the great granary of Morayshire, has been a flourishing agricultural area. Twenty-eight years ago the Forestry Commission took over the estate. Early efforts to stem the tide of sand were not entirely successful. Now it has been saved by hatching. To-day, four thousand acres have been planted with Corsican Pine, Scots Pine, and Lodge Pole Pine. The remaining two thousand acres are to be treated similarly.

GREECE BUYS LARGE QUANTITY OF CANADIAN FISH

Canada supplied Greece with approximately 20,800,358 pounds of fish during the past year, or 28 per cent of the fish imported by that country. Codfish sent by the province of Newfoundland made up approximately 7,653,754 pounds of the quantity. Greek purchases from Canada consisted mostly of herrings and tinned fish, such as salmon, mackerel and pilchards. The present policy of the Greek government is to permit the purchase of cheaper items, such as pilchards, sardines and sardines, in preference to the more expensive types of fish. Imports during the past year showed an increased increase over previous figures, which averages some 25,000 tons.

WILL TRADE FLAX ON EXCHANGE

The Grain Exchange has authorized trading in flax futures, effective August 29.

The Board of Governors of the Exchange announced recently trading in flax futures has been authorized to "provide essential facilities for marketing flax".

At the outset of trading in this commodity, daily fluctuation limits will not be imposed, although the Governors intend to set daily limits as deemed advisable.

Contract grades are no. 1 Canada west flaxseed. Producers may deliver no. 2 C.W. flaxseed at a discount of five cents a bushel.

There has been no trading in flax futures on the exchange since the July future went off the board. No new crop flax has yet reached the lakeshead.

Producers of flax have the option of selling it on the open market or disposing of it through a voluntary pool operated by the Canadian Wheat Board, now the marketing agent of coarse grains as well as wheat.

Producers selling flax through the pool receive an initial payment of $2.50 a bushel.

WALTHUR LEAGUE TO TRY CUT NEW MOVIE PROJECTOR

Redeemer Lutheran Walther League will make use of its new movie projector Tuesday night, August 30, when it will present an evening of films. The feature attraction is a sound film "I Am With You". This film shows what happens when a courageous man finds himself compelled to follow God's will, finding that his path leads to personal tragedy. This film is a product of the Church of Sweden, filmed in Southern Rhodesia.

A synchronized English sound track has been added. "I Am With You" has the power born of greatness to move and inspire through thrilling adventure in stark, dramatic depths of a tragedy that befell a man of God and then to lift that audience up to a pinnacle of inspiration with a new understanding and faith in the promise, "I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

Two short films will also be shown, one depicting the part wax plays in the average life; the other the use of 2, 4-D, in color, on weeds.

These films will be shown in the church basement on Tuesday, August 30, beginning at 8 p.m.
